This week's math puzzle

A farmer had a total of 304 animals, both pigs and chickens.

One day he sold all the pigs, and bought chickens instead.

He bought 17 hens for every pig he sold.

When he got rid of all the pigs, there were 368 animals on the farm.

How many pigs did the farmer originally have?

Glosses

- both = både / begge
- instead of = istedenfor
- bought = kjøpte
- every = hver
- got rid of = ble kvitt
- originally = opprinnelig
